Limit the spread of LDD

To help save your trees and limit the spread of LDD you can scrape the egg masses off your tree trunks and place in a bucket of soapy water before disposing them. This will reduce the number of caterpillars that will hatch and feed on your trees. How to remove the egg masses from your trees:

- Put on protective gloves
- Scrape off the egg masses with a dull knife, paint scraper or other tool and place in a bucket of soapy water.
- Keep the egg masses in soapy water for a day or two before discarding them in the garbage.

For more on how to spot egg masses on your tree and why it's important to remove them before they hatch visit aurora.ca/ldd.

3 Steps To remove egg masses

1

Place a bucket under the affected tree

2

Use a scraper tool to remove the egg masses from the tree

3

Place egg masses in a bucket of soapy water for 2 days
