Memorandum

Date: September 15, 2016
To: Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee Members
From: Jim Tree, Manager of Parks
Re: Pet Waste in Public Parks and Open Spaces

Recommendations

1. That the memorandum regarding Pet Waste in Public Parks and Open Spaces be received for information.

Background

“New Business Item No. 1
Moved by Richard Doust
Seconded by Juergen Daurer
THAT the information regarding pet defecation be received; and
THAT staff provide additional information regarding pet defecation in public areas at the next Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee meeting.
CARRIED “

Pursuant to the above-noted request emanating from the June 16, 2016 PRAC meeting staff are pleased to provide the following information;

The issue of inappropriate removal of pet waste from municipal parks and open spaces is a very complex and difficult problem facing most if not all municipalities at some level.

Currently the Town of Aurora has some measures in place to mitigate the impacts of uncontained pet feces in our parks and open spaces that include;

- 180 permanent stationary trash receptacles in the Parks System
- An additional 50 receptacles placed in high traffic areas during summer months
Pet Waste in Public Parks and Open Spaces

- Stoop and Scoop signage at the majority of parks and open space points of entry and known problem areas
- Biweekly and weekly removal of accumulated trash
- Ongoing Staff observation and monitoring of problem pet running at large areas
- By-law enforcement and monitoring of problem areas
- Acting on public complaints and reports of pets running at large

With the above measures staff are confident that there is a reasonable level of serviced in this particular area in view of the available level of human and financial resources however, notwithstanding this there will always be a level of non-compliance among a minority of pet owners who refuse to take responsibility for their animal waste.

It is also important to note that staff remain in close contact and frequently communicate with our major sports organizations and only rarely do we receive any reports of pet feces contamination on our sports facilities. In the event that staff are advised of a problem area very often the issue is the result of a repeat offender frequenting the same location and we have been able to swiftly curb the activity through our By-law enforcement staff.

In terms of additional measures that could be implemented to further reduce the inappropriate behaviour of pet owners there are a number of strategies that could be considered.

These strategies are listed in the table below along with an applicable cost rating of, low, moderate or high. This is simply for information and discussion purposes and in the event that the Committee wishes to explore any of these measures in greater detail, staff could provide further information and cost impacts upon receiving Council direction to do so.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Public Education Program</td>
<td>Low to Moderate</td>
<td>Public education program could be conducted at a low to moderate cost depending on methods used. using the local newspaper Notice Board, Web site and electronic municipal signs at ACC1 and SARC would be low cost.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Green Bin Collection</td>
<td>High</td>
<td>Green bin collection and provision of biodegradable collection bags are being provided in some municipalities; this would require a significant increase in service levels and associated costs. May not be completely effective due to contamination of the waste stream by the introduction of plastic or other items being deposited in the bins resulting in the green bin contents being diverted to landfill</td>

<td>Dedicated or &quot;stepped up&quot; by-law enforcement</td>

<td>Additional by-law enforcement could be deployed to patrol and enforce the stoop and scoop by-law more diligently, significant costs would result</td>

Attachment 1 – Pet Waste Management in other Municipalities
In an effort to meet Council’s waste diversion goals and address what has been identified, by two Parks Waste Audits, as comprising 25% of the park waste stream, Toronto Parks, Forestry and Recreation launched several dog waste pilots in select parks across Toronto in 2007.

Following extensive research into what municipalities across the world are successfully doing with their dog waste, an analysis was conducted on the most suitable options for application in a Toronto park context. Those options included: a Green Bin pilot program, a carry in / carry out pilot program and a septic waste pilot program.

Of the three pilots, only the Green Bin pilot showed success. It was expanded to 17 locations. The Green Bins were placed next to litter and recycling bins, and accompanied by signage explaining the pilot. The signs also requested that individuals use the paper bags and scoops provided to ensure that all of the bin contents are compostable. Both regular and biodegradable plastics impede the composting process, as they are removed and sent to the waste stream in the automated organic processing plant, which does not distinguish between these two types of plastic.

At present, only 3 of the Dog Waste Green Bin sites remain active, due to high contamination of the bins with plastic and garbage and noise and disturbance caused by night time collection in residential areas. The 3 sites still operating are:

Stinky problem: Vancouver spending $75K to keep dog poo out of landfill

They may be cute and cuddly, but with more than 350,000 dogs living in Metro Vancouver, the 500 tonnes of poop produced each year is a real problem.

Officials say dog poop, which contains high levels of pathogens, is turning landfills into a toxic mess. Metro Vancouver wants the feces out of the trash and into the sewer system – and has tried several methods to just that.

"Ideally, what we want is the public to be able to take their waste and flush it down the toilet at home... that's the goal," said Doug Petersen, operational supervisor of Metro Vancouver regional parks, smiling as he acknowledges the "ick factor" may be too high for people to get on board with that idea.

PHOTOS

A doggie toilet area in North Vancouver was rarely used. At an Aldergrove dog park owners scoop into a tank that's regularly emptied, but the region hasn't had success replicating the project elsewhere.

The only thing that seems to work is separate red bins for dog waste, located next to regular garbage cans. Owners dispose the steaming packages into the bin, the bags are cut open, and the waste is taken by truck to Richmond's Iona Sewage Treatment Plant.

Bill Droske owns Scooby's Dog Waste Removal Service, the company that is responsible for cutting open the poop bags and transporting the feces.

"It's kind of a gross job, and it's manually intensive," Droske said. "People have suggested that I invent a machine, but I'd rather not. I'd rather employ people."

The City of Vancouver is spending $75,000 to put the bins into three parks, and with this Droske's poop projection is expected to double to nearly 1,400 litres a week.

In fact, the idea is so popular with dog owners that an extra bin was added to a Port Moody neighbourhood last week because one wasn't enough.

"The bins are working well – lots of people are using them," said Petersen. "We tested it for a while with several parks and we saw the success, so we're going to be expanding those bins into more regional parks into the next number of years."

"We're trying to help people understand, and make sure we do the best we can to get it there."

Dog Waste Diversion Program

Now it's even easier to keep Pickering Parks clean. Residents can use biodegradable bags provided by the City when scooping & scooping in the pet-friendly areas listed below. Dog waste is removed on a regular basis and disposed of in an environmentally responsible manner.

Pickering's Dog Waste Diversion program is available at these locations:

- Alex Robertson Park
- Brockridge Park
- Bronte Square (pedestrian bridge)
- Bruce Hanscombe Memorial Park
- Diana Princess of Wales Park
- Dunmoore Park
- Esplanade Park
- Forestbrook Park
- Grand Valley Park, dog off leash area (3 stations)
- J. McPherson Park
- Major Oaks Park
- Millennium Square

Instead of going to a landfill, dog waste from these locations is processed and disposed of at the Region of Durham's Duffin Creek Water Pollution Control Plant.
Enough with the dog poop: Dogs banned from parks in Vaudreuil-sur-le-lac

ALBERT KRAMBERGER, SPECIAL TO MONTREAL GAZETTE

More from Albert Kramberger, Special to Montreal Gazette

Published on: October 27, 2015 | Last Updated: October 27, 2015 6:19 AM EDT

The small town of Vaudreuil-sur-le-lac has had enough complaints about dogs in public parks. Citing public health and safety reasons, town council has opted to ban dogs from entering any municipal parks.

The new regulation in the town of about 1,320 residents has been in force for about two months. Mayor Claude Pilon said council took action after dealing with repeated cases of poop littering park spaces. He said the vast majority of residents are satisfied with the dog-control measure that forbids dogs in parks at any time, whether on a leash or not.

“It’s a question of security. It’s a question of dogs, of complaints also,” Pilon said, adding dog excrement has soiled park spaces, from playgrounds to soccer fields.

Over the years, the town communicated with people regarding this issue and held awareness campaigns, but not everyone complied, so we had to legislate, the mayor said.

“Some people didn’t respect the environment and the parks,” he said, adding the new regulation wasn’t tabled without reasons. “Some people let their dogs do their business all over the field. It’s not right.

“There’s also the issue of security,” he continued, noting children may not know how or when to approach a strange dog and are at risk of being bitten.

“It’s also about prevention and safety. About 90 per cent of the population are OK with this (park ban). We will go with what the majority of people want.”

Enough with the dog poop: Dogs banned from parks in Vaudreuil...

Owners are also reminded that the town requires their pet to have a dog licence, which cost $10 and is good for a year.

Dog bans in other towns

Meanwhile, the Montreal borough of Pierrefonds-Roxboro had loosened the reins on its dog-walking ban in certain parks between May 15 and Sept. 15 as part of a pilot project.

In May, borough council modified a bylaw to allow pet owners to walk their dog on a leash through some 17 parks that include green spaces that do not have play areas for children, including l'Anse-aux-Chêne, Monk, Promenade-Lalonde and St-Barnabas. The ban on walking dogs in parks with playgrounds was maintained. Pierrefonds had once permitted dogs to be walked on a leash in its parks between 2003-2006, but following complaints, had reintroduced a ban.

The Lachine borough bans dogs from entering its parks, playgrounds or public squares, though there are a few of exemptions indicated by signs. Dogs are allowed in sections of Railway Park near 10th Avenue and Victoria Street; the dog run at 55th Ave. and Highway 20; at Stoney Point River Park, between 45th and 56th Avenues, from 6 to 10 a.m. and 6 and 10 p.m.; as well as the exercise area near Victoria Street and 28th Ave.

The St-Laurent borough also bans dogs from general parks and playground areas. The borough has set up about six dog runs, which are fenced areas, spread throughout its territory. People can walk their dogs on a leash along streets.
